

Health Sciences Library

Tuesday, February 23, 2010
NOON – 1:00 p.m. EST

Topic: RSS (Really Simple Syndication) Readers and Related Emerging Technologies

Locations:

Adobe Connect (online) <http://normed.na6.acrobat.com/hsl/>

Audio Dial in (audio) Please dial 1-800-465-3278

please note that this session is online

Program Description

On information overload? Clicking through multiple sites every morning just to keep up with the latest news? Bring the information to you! Learn to aggregate the latest information of interest to you in your own personalized RSS Reader. The purpose of this session is to introduce participants to RSS and related emerging technologies. Participants will learn what RSS Readers are available on the net and how to access and customize them. Google Reader will be used as our primary example but do note that Readers are also offered through Yahoo, AOL and independent sites. Information presented during this session is transferable to other providers. Additionally sites of interest will be presented including feeds from The National Post, Healthy Ontario, The New England Journal of Medicine and popular medical databases.

Objectives

Participants will...

- Learn what an RSS feed is and how it can be used to their benefit
- Be introduced to currently available RSS Readers
- Search for feeds pertinent to their information needs
- Subscribe to a feed manually and automatically
- Learn about mobile RSS Reader applications

Presenter:

Michael McArthur, Health Sciences Library

To register and connect, please send an email with your full name and session title to Shelby Dunahee at shelby.dunahee@normed.ca

This program meets the accreditation criteria of the College of Family Physicians of Canada and has been accredited for up to 1 Mainpro-M1 credits as approved by the Northern Ontario School of Medicine.

This event is an Accredited Group Learning Activity (Section 1) as defined by the Maintenance of Certification program of The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, approved by the Northern Ontario School of Medicine for up to 1 hour.

Northern Ontario
School of Medicine

CEPD

continuing education and professional development