Palliative/end-of-life care and medical assistance in dying are challenging, complex and intimate areas of medical practice. In a healthcare era marked by high demand and changing priorities, how can you, as a healthcare professional, ensure compassionate and high-quality care to your patients?

Join us for this special full-day CPD event to engage with local colleagues and address complex topics – including early identification of palliative care, symptom management and end-of-life care – all while benefiting from the valuable mentorship of local palliative care and MAiD experts.

Who can attend? This event is open to all interdisciplinary palliative care clinicians in Ontario, including:

- family physicians caring for patients with palliative and end-of-life needs
- pain control nurses
- end-of-life care nurses
- hospice-care registered nurses
- palliative care physicians
- palliative care nurse practitioners
- home and community care clinicians
- palliative care community pharmacists
- pharmacists dispensing drugs required for MAiD
- MAiD providers and assessors.

When: Friday, June 14 | 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Where: Northern Ontario School of Medicine
Medical School Building 27, Room MSE 107
935 Ramsey Lake Road, Sudbury, Ontario

Fee: There is no cost to attend.
